Santa Barbara Coalition for Global Dialogue

THIRST FOR SECURITY:

“Global Water and Tomorrow’s Armed Conflicts”

Earth Day Celebration

Saturday, April 18, 2009 / 9:00AM - 12:30PM / Free Admission
Fe Bland Auditorium, Santa Barbara City College West Campus
721 Cliff Drive, Santa Barbara, CA

WATER is essential to life on earth. Human beings and the animals who share our environment suffer when nature and human conduct diminish access to clean water. Both science and diplomacy are needed to promote wise stewardship and peaceful sharing of water.

A well informed public can provide support for domestic and international governmental water policies which protect this precious resource and avoid conflicts over its possession and use. The following actively involved and informative water experts will address the forum:

- Jerome Delli Priscoli

U.S. Army Corps of Engineers: expert in water and security issues; has participated in multinational negotiations about water resources on every continent

- Jeffrey Dozier

Founding Dean of UCSB Bren School of Environmental Science and Management; former Senior Project Scientist for NASA's Earth Observing System

- Hilal Elver

UCSB Distinguished Visiting Professor; former UN Environment Program Chair of Environmental Diplomacy

- Engin Koncagul

Programme Specialist / Coordinator for the World Water Assessment Programme hosted by UNESCO
